Scavengers of Importance.

Next to the bowels or rather in conjunction with them the kidneys and bladder are the most important scavengers of the system. They purify the blood and carry off its refuse, preventing rheumatism, dropsy, Bright's disease and diabetes. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, when the kidneys evince a tendency to relax the activity of their important function, renews it and thus averts renal maladies, the most difficult to cope with and which superinduce a frightful loss of bodily tissue, stamina and flesh. When the renal organs exhibit the slightest symptoms of inaction they should at once receive the needful stimulus from this safest, surest and pleasantest of diuretics. Chills and fever, dyspepsia, constipation, liver complaint and debility are also remedied by it.

TESTIMONIALS.

A CARD.

MILTON, Or., Sept. 25, 1885.

A sense of duty to those who may be similarly afflicted prompts me to make the following statement: My son Henry, aged 14 years, was almost entirely deaf since quite a child, and having failed to obtain any help for him, I applied to Dr. H. J. Smith, of San Francisco, who pronounced his case one of Catarrhal Deafness, and said he could cure his Catarrh and improve his hearing at least one-half. He has only been under the doctor's treatment (at home) a short time, and I find his hearing completely restored and Catarrh nearly cured. N. PIERCE.

MILTON, Or., Sept. 29, 1886.—I take pleasure in stating that, after the lapse of one year, I find my boy, Henry's, condition better than stated in my testimonial of one year ago. N. PIERCE.

Mr. J. A. RICHARDSON, Justice of the Peace, Stone, Or., who suffered from tubercular deposit on the lungs, with asthma, resulting from neglected catarrh, states: "When I commenced your treatment I was scarcely able to walk, and in five days I was able to walk two miles, and now enjoy fair health, and am confident that I should have been even better, had I not neglected your treatment as soon as I got better."

To those suffering from BLOOD, NERVOUS or other Chronic Diseases, we would say that it is not our custom to resort to a tedious effusion of trite matter, to excite your fears in order to deplete your purse, but will simply say that we have made a thorough study of this class of diseases, and can cure you in the speediest and most scientific manner possible.

HOME TREATMENT.

Those who cannot attend our office may be given a course of treatment at home, under our direction. If you cannot call, address us, enclosing stamp and giving full description of your symptoms.

Bartholdi's Statue Dedicated with Imposing Ceremonies.

ONE MILLION PEOPLE ASSEMBLE

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—The rain storm which prevailed all day yesterday ceased last night but the weather this morning is very unpromising for the festivities which are to take place in connection with the inauguration of Bartholdi's statue. A slight fog over the city obscures in a measure the elegant decorations of draperies with which the city has been beautified. French and American flags are flying from the housetops and windows in every direction and a general holiday appearance is presented by the moving bodies of soldiers, militia and civic organizations and by the collection on the sidewalks of a great crowd of people. Business during the day will be almost entirely suspended. The public schools will be closed and all New York will join in the celebration. Visitors from all sections of the country have been coming into the city for two days past and this morning thousands more were added to the great throng.

The prospect of unpleasant weather has in no way deterred the people from coming out. The storm greatly interfered with the work on Bedloe's Island yesterday, but as little was left to do it did not matter much whether it rained or not. The workmen tore down the narrow steps that led up the embankment and replaced them with a wider stairway. They also laid a broad wood walk leading to the grand entrance in front of the fort. The platform that has stood in one of the north western angles of the inclosure was also removed and a platform for speakers made ready for the reception. A handsome silk French flag will be placed over the face of the statue and at a word from President Cleveland it will be drawn, unveiling the head of the goddess.

The labor parade which moved out at [illegible] o'clock included between [illegible],000 and 3,000 men. The head of the column will reach the Battery about noon. The naval parade starts at 1 45 P. M. The president will reach Bedloe's Island about 3 o'clock and exercises will commence as soon as he has reached his seat.

FORMATION OF THE LINE.

It is estimated that fully a million of people took part in the festivities. The wet pavements with mud, chilly atmosphere and general discomfort were no appreciable bar to public enthusiasm. From the boundary line east and west at the river front the drift of people moved until when nearing the line of march, they grew to be a tide of humanity jammed up against the police line and sent back constantly a flowing stream into nearby avenues.

The procession was to have started at 9 o'clock but at that hour it had only begun to form. The Fifth United States infantry, commanded by Col John Hamilton, and the engineer corps took a position in front of Secretary Whitney's house at Fifty-eighth street and Fifth avenue, a few minutes after 9. Next came the Old Guard who stood near carriages in waiting for President Cleveland and members of the cabinet, to leave Whitney's residence where the president had spent the night.

Precisely at 10 o'clock the president accompanied by Secretary Bayard descended the steps and entered an open carriage. They were followed by Secretary Whitney, Postmaster General Vilas, Secretary Lamar, Rear Admiral Jouett and staff and Major Whipple.

The Old Guard preceded the carriages and at 10:15 commenced to march down Fifth avenue. Both sides of the avenue were crowded with people who waved their hats and applauded loudly as the president's carriage passed. On all the side streets, from Central park to the reviewing stand on Twenty fourth street, different military companies and civil orders were formed.

The carriages containing the president and cabinet were followed by a battalion of 250 police. The United States naval brigade came next with the engineer corps, which consisted of 200 men. The Second regiment, N. G. S. N. Y. then fell in line together with a regiment of Massachusetts volunteer militia. These were followed by the Seventy-eighth, Twelfth, Eleventh and First regiments and French societies numbering 2500 men.

The governors of Massachusetts, Maine, Vermont, Connecticut, Rhode Island, New Jersey, New York, New Hampshire, and their staffs together with United States judges entered carriages at the Windsor hotel and fell into line between the French associations. After these followed divisions made up of mayors and officials of various cities, visiting policemen and firemen, veterans of 1812, Grand Army posts, civic societies, volunteer firemen's associations, Knights of Pythias of Indiana numbering 200 men, Odd Fellows and other associations.

AT THE STAND.

The president reached the reviewing stand at Madison square at [illegible]. He was greeted with hearty cheers as he drove down the avenue, and drew up in front of the stand.

After the president had taken his place on the reviewing stand the members of the French delegation were presented to him. Most of the space on the stand was reserved for French guests. They were headed by M. Bartholdi, Count de Lesseps, Admiral Jaueres, Gen. Pelissier, Col. Depuy, Wm. Bigot, Col. de Lossadat and Lieut. Villegert. The French delegation was in charge of Capt. Ferdinand Levy, Capt. Schilling, Lieut. Walts and Col. Collins.

Among other distinguished guests on the reviewing stand were Gen. Sheridan and his staff and Gov. Hill accompanied by the lieutenant governor and staff.

When Gov. Hill mounted the platform there were cheers.

BARTHOLDI'S RECEPTION.

When Bartholdi the sculptor appeared and was easily recognized by the mass who had seen his portrait on the programme and in the illustrated papers a shout went up from those nearest the stand. The cry of "Bartholdi! Bartholdi!" was then caught up on both the reviewing and grand stands. The crowds on the avenue curbings up and down heard the name and passed it to the people in the park until the air was shaken with the roar of cheering that must have gladdened the heart of the Alsatian who bowed and bowed his acknowledgements.

Then carriages were driven to the rear of the stand and up came the president and his party.

He was recognized and again the crowds shook the welkin with shouts. On the reviewing stand he was presented with three handsome baskets of flowers, gifts of young ladies in the city.

As the various military and civic organizations passed they saluted by dropping their colors and the president responded by lifting his hat. Nearly every band in passing played the Marseillaise, the French national hymn.

As soon as the procession had passed the president and party were driven to North river and were taken on board the Dispatch.

On reaching Main street to the north of the post office the procession turned in toward Park Row and then marched down again toward Broadway. This was done in order to pass under an arch of evergreens, flags and mottoes erected in front of the World building. It was just about noon when the column reached this point.

The Tribune, Times, Sun, Mail and Express and other newspaper buildings were all tastefully decorated as were buildings generally in the lower part of town, the fronts of some of the immense structures being hidden almost from view.

TO THE RIVER FRONT.

From the postoffice the parade marched down Broadway to Wall street. The throngs of people seemed to increase at every block. Turning into Wall street the parade wound its way to Pearl street, and thence to the Battery. Here crowds of people had gathered to greet it. Every walk of the Battery park was thronged with eager sightseers, who notwithstanding the dampness still had another shout and another cheer. Here the parade was dismissed and those who desired to do so took boats for Bedloe's Island.

A dense fog that thickened from early morning, drizzling rain and cutting northeasterly winds describes Liberty day upon the water. There was not a single ray of sunlight to warm the hearts of the people of the two great republics who are so closely bound together by the action of Lafayette in the great struggle for freedom and by the later work of M. Bartholdi.

Despite the dull and dreary weather the people were not depressed. Thousands upon thousands of patriotic citizens from all the cities of the Union were upon the waters of New York harbor celebrating this great occasion, a repetition of which in the time of the present generation is not probable. They seemed to stand in the face of the drenching rain and driving winds as if they could but participate in the proper celebration of the day.

THE NAVAL PARADE.

Spectators who expected to enjoy a great naval parade from New York to the Jersey and Long Island shores were badly disappointed for it was impossible to see at a greater distance than a quarter of a mile on the water because of the density of the mist. In the early forenoon the fog was thick and as the day grew older the weather grew thicker so that at noon it was almost impossible to distinguish a vessel within a hundred feet.

At midday vessels that were to take part in the great naval display were making their appearance by the dozens and then began the work of assigning them positions in line. Finally they had secured the places assigned them. All of the vessels lay north of Forty seventh street.

A few minutes after 1 o'clock the gun to start was fired and the flagship Sidney weighed anchor, swung around and started down stream. Close in her wake followed the squadron of vessels, all steamers. Had the day been fine the naval parade must have been a grand one. A fact that was particularly noticeable was that all the steamers of the English and German lines, in slips along the river, were decorated from stem to stern with signs and colors.

At 1 45 the leading vessels of the [illegible] the upper bay [illegible] the fog bank could be discerned the pedestal of the immense statue. [illegible] minutes later the Sidney had steamed up and [illegible] that Liberty Island was easily distinguished and then the torch of the statue where the fog was thickest [illegible] up. On the face of the great and majestic figure was the French tri color.

AT THE STATUE.

At [illegible] o'clock the flagship anchored to eastward of Liberty Island. Here was gathered a fleet of vessels that can better be imagined than described. All manner of craft were at anchor in the waters about the great statue. The war vessels came in for their share of attraction with their tiers of black muzzles protruding from either side. They lay in a line extending north and south and were: Alliance, Tennessee, Jamestown, Saratoga, Portsmouth and Yantic.

Shortly before 3 o'clock the United States steamer Dispatch with President Cleveland and cabinet aboard approached. The yards were manned and as the Dispatch passed [illegible] salute was given by the sailors and they descended to the deck.

At 3 [illegible] whistles were blown, the guns of the men of war boomed [illegible] were displayed. [illegible] When [illegible] prayer was [illegible] Storrs.

REMARKS OF DE LESSEPS.

Count de Lesseps was then introduced and was received with a round of applause. He spoke in French with an energy [illegible] to any speaker of the day [illegible] in this respect. Senator Evarts and Mr Chauncey M. Depew [illegible] skull caps while speaking, but the [illegible] canal digger faced the storm [illegible] with [illegible] covering to his silvered head although he stood further forward in the drizzling rain than any of the other speakers. He began with a jocular aside apparently in regard to the steam whistles which kept up a very ill annoying series of toots throughout the proceedings. De Lesseps said:

"Citizens of America—I hasten to accept your gracious invitation extended by the government of the great American republic. It is a generous idea on the part of him who presided over the creation of the statue of Liberty. It honors equally those who conceived and those who have carried out the conception of Liberty enlightening the world, a grand beacon raised amidst the waves on the shore of free America. In disembarking under its light we shall know that he treads on soil where individual initiative has developed its fullest strength, where progress is religion, where great fortunes become popular by their charitable enterprise in encouraging education and science and scattering abroad fruitful seeds for the future. You are right, American citizens, [illegible] of your Go ahead. In speaking to you of the sympathies of Frenchmen I know I express the thought of all my compatriots. There is no painful or sad memories between the two countries [illegible] solitary rival, that of progress. We accept your intentions as you accept ours without jealousy. You love men who dare and persevere. I say I like your go ahead. We understand each other when I speak this language. I feel myself at home when I am with you. Illustrious descendants of the French nobility who crossed the Atlantic a hundred years ago bringing to you the aurora of your independence, the devoted co-operation of our national sympathies dreamed of your destiny.

"These dreams have been more than realized. At the distance of a century these sympathies have remained the same. The representatives of France to-day see America powerful and free and they present to it this emblem to proclaim that she has grown greater for liberty. It gives me real joy to speak to you thus with open heart, and know that my words are received as those of a true friend. Soon, gentlemen, we shall meet again to celebrate a new conquest of peace at Panama (applause), where the flag of the thirty eight states of America will be seen floating along with the banners of the independent states of South America, and will form in the new world for the good of humanity a peaceful and fruitful alliance of the Franco-Latin and Anglo-Saxon races."

SENATOR EVARTS'S ADDRESS.

Mr. President—The scene upon which this vast assemblage is collected displays a transaction in human affairs which finds no precedent on record in the past, nor in the long future we may feel assured will it ever confront its counterpart or parallel. How can we fitly frame in words the sentiments, motives and emotions which have filled and moved the hearts and minds of the two great nations in the birth, noble conception, grand embodiment and complete execution of this stupendous monument now unveiled to the admiring gaze of men and emblazoned in its coronation of the finished work with the plaudits of the world. What ornaments of speech, what eloquence of human voice, what costly gifts of [illegible] fourfold tribute can we bring to the celebration of [illegible] of genius, of skill [illegible] which speaks to-day and will speak for ever the thoughts, feelings and friendships of these two populous, powerful and free republics knit together in their pride and joy at their own established freedom and in their hope and purpose that the glad light of liberty shall enlighten the world. The genius, courage, devotion of spirit and indomitable will of the great sculptor Bartholdi, whose well earned fame [illegible] the trust committed to him have [illegible] out in stubborn brass and iron the artist's dream, the airy conception of his mind, the shapely sculpture of his cunning hand [illegible] its firm base as if a natural play [illegible] of the elements, fearing no harm from all the winds that blow.

As with the French people so with our own the whole means for the great expenditures have come from free contributions of the people themselves and thus the common people of both nations may justly point to a greater and nobler monument in and of the history and [illegible] of the human race than emperors, kings or governments have ever raised.

This statue, on the 4th of July, 1884, in Paris was delivered to and accepted by the government by authority of the president of the United States delegated to and executed by Minister Morton. To-day in the name of the citizens of the United States who have completed the pedestal and raised thereon the statue, and of the voluntary committee who have [illegible] of their fellow citizens, in your presence and in the presence of these distinguished guests from France and of this august assemblage of honorable and honored men of our land and of this countless multitude, this pedestal and united work of two republics is completed and surrendered to the care and keeping of the government and people of the United States.

THE PRESIDENT'S REMARKS.

At the conclusion of Senator Evarts's speech the signal was given and the veil was withdrawn from the face of the statue amidst the booming of cannon and shrieking of whistles from hundreds of steamers and other crafts all around the Island. This indescribable ovation continued for fully half an hour. Senator Evarts then [illegible] the ringing and booming subsided [illegible] Grover Cleveland, president of the United States, who in accepting the statue said:

"The people of the United States accept with gratitude from their brethren of the French republic the grand and completed work of art we here inaugurate. This token of the affection and consideration of the people of France demonstrates the kinship of republics and conveys to us assurance that in our efforts to commend to mankind the excellence of a government resting upon popular will we still have beyond the American continent a steadfast ally. We are not here to-day to bow before a representation of a fierce and warlike god—filled with wrath and vengeance—but we joyously contemplate instead our own deity keeping watch and ward before the open gates of America and greater than all that have been celebrated in ancient song. Instead of grasping in her hand thunderbolts of terror and death she holds aloft a light which illuminates the way to man's enfranchisement. We will not forget that Liberty has here made her home nor shall her chosen altar be neglected. Willing votaries will constantly keep alive its fires and these shall gleam upon the shores of our sister republic in the east. Reflected thence and joined with answering rays a stream of light shall pierce the darkness of ignorance and man's oppression until Liberty enlightens the world."

LEFEVRE'S RESPONSE.

After President Cleveland came M. A. Lefevre, minister plenipotentiary, who spoke as representative of the republic of France. He said: "In the presence of so imposing an assembly at this a prelude to the ceremony which consolidates the secular friendship of two great nations, it is an honor and hearty pleasure to me to present to you, in the name of the French government and of the entire French nation sincere and warm assurance of sympathetic participation. The inauguration of to-day is one splendid with solemn and impressive import, for it is one of those which form an epoch in history. This colossal statue of Liberty, modeled by a great artist, would anywhere attract attention and deference. But here on American soil it evinces special significance, symbolizing the existence and development of your nation during more than 100 years. To us Americans and Frenchmen Liberty is not only a common doctrine. It is also a family tie. From an alliance between the two nations sprang forth the most dazzling manifestation of its expansion and radiance through the universe. It will be an eternal honor to France to have seconded the effort of your heroism and to have understood in the first dawn the sublime prospects which were promised to mankind by your generous ardor. This symbol which we inaugurate to-day is not a mere allegory. Pledge of fraternal union between the two greatest republics of the world, it is greeted simultaneously by more than one hundred millions of freemen who tender friendly hands to each other across the ocean. Among the thousands of Europeans who are daily conveyed to these hospitable shores no one will pass before this glorious emblem without immediately perceiving its moral greatness and without greeting it with respect and thankfulness."

The memorial address was delivered by Hon. C. M. Depew.

DEPEW'S ADDRESS.

Depew said: "We dedicate this statue to the friendship of nations and the peace of the world. The spirit of liberty embraces all races in common brotherhood. It voices in all languages the same needs and aspirations. The full power of its expansive and progressive influence cannot be checked until wars cease, armies are disbanded and international disputes are settled by lawful [illegible] governments can calmly and dispassionately pronounce their own happiness and prosperity."

The speaker then reviewed the progress of the nation dwelling at length upon the aid the French nation had given during the revolution. He gave a brief biographical sketch of Lafayette, of his resolve to aid the colonies in their struggles against Great Britain and of obstacles which he overcame in order to make a tender of his services to Washington. After bringing the history of the country down through the rebellion to the present day, always keeping in view the current relations with France, the orator touched upon monuments and symbols of other nations and times and added: "But they are all dwarfs in size and pigmies in spirit beside this mighty structure and its inspiring thought. Higher than the monument in Trafalgar square which commemorates the victories of Nelson on the sea, higher than the Column Vendome which perpetuates the triumphs of Napoleon on land, higher than the towers of Brooklyn bridge which exhibits the latest and grandest results of science, invention and industrial progress, this statue of Liberty rises toward the heavens to illustrate an idea which nerved the three hundred at Thermopylæ and armed the ten thousand at Marathon, which drove Tarquin from Rome and aimed the arrow of Tell, which charged with Cromwell and his Ironsides and accompanied Sidney to the block, which fired the farmer's gun at Lexington and razed the Bastile in Paris, which inspired the charter in the cabin of the Mayflower and the declaration of independence from the continental congress."

He concluded as follows: "I devoutly believe that from the unseen and the unknown two great souls have come to participate in this celebration. The faith in which they died fulfilled, the cause for which they battled triumphant, the people they loved in the full enjoyment of the rights for which they labored and fought and suffered, the spirit voices of Washington and Lafayette join in the glad acclaim of France and the United States to Liberty Enlightening the World."

Then the audience sang "Old Hundred" and benediction was pronounced by Rt. Rev. Henry C. Potter, D. D.

A national salute from the guns of all the forts and all the men of war in the harbor closed the exercises.

THE VISITORS SCATTERED.

At the close of the exercises on Bedloe's Island there was an inexcusable lack of arrangement in leaving the island and embarking again for home. The French visitors were scattered here and there in the crush and detained in it for nearly an hour. This closed one of the greatest days in the history of the city. The naval display and procession was the largest ever gathered in the waters of this port, that at the recent international yacht races sinking into insignificance. It was on the programme to have a grand pyrotechnic display on the island and at the Battery and to illuminate the statue for the first time to-night, but the rain and fog rendered both futile and they were abandoned. The banquet given by the New York chamber of commerce in honor of the representatives of the French republic and invited guests was a notable one. Mr James Brown presided. On his right were Messrs Albert Lefevre, Eugene Spuller, Auguste Bartholdi, Governor David B. Hill and others.

THE SALUTE.

Three batteries took part in the salute of 100 guns fired from the battery on a wired signal at the moment of the unveiling of the statue. Steamers in the bay blew their whistles and men-of-war returned the salute from their guns.

At 4 o'clock the vessels which had taken part in the naval parade began to return and deposit their cargoes of sight seers at the battery and nearby wharves. At 4:20 the guns on Governor's island and other forts and the guns of the war ships were unmasked and belched forth their thunder for half an hour.

A PESSIMIST.

LONDON, Oct. 28.—The Daily News commenting on the dedication says: "It is a great mistake to think the statue will increase the friendship between the two countries. America did not want the statue. She took it because it was offered her. When the last cannon boomed New York was richer by a remarkable statue, and that's about all."

WASHINGTON NEWS ITEMS.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE MAIL SERVICE.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—From the annual report of Assistant Postmaster-General Knott it appears that on the 4th of June, 1886 there were in operation throughout the United States [illegible] routes of all classes on which mail service was performed at an annual rate of expenditure at the close of the last fiscal year of $[illegible] 658. The aggregate length of all these routes was [illegible] miles. The report states that from April 1, 1885 to June 30, 1886, total savings in the annual rate of cost in this department of the postal service effected by orders and by new contracts for transportation and mail equipments were $1,940 78[illegible]. Estimates for next year are $15,8[illegible], being an increase of only $[illegible] over the appropriation for the current year.

In the star service there was an increase of [illegible] per cent in the quantity of service and a decrease in the rate of cost of [illegible] per cent, as compared with the preceding five years.

The report closes with a recommendation for a change in the method of compensation in the railway mail service. Under the present law railways are paid according to the average daily mail carried both ways. On account of many incongruities under this method of pay and unsatisfactory method of adjusting compensation a change is recommended by the substitution of the space basis instead of weight as a basis of pay. It is believed this method will, without seriously affecting the present service, make a saving of about $800,000 per year in the annual expenditure.

THE COMING CONGRESSIONAL ELECTIONS.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—Within a week the congressional elections will occur but there are no [illegible] political activity at the capital. The campaign committees have finished their work, and all the [illegible] are in the field. The habit of running to Washington all in a hurry at election time to get funds [illegible] to assist in the election is not being followed this year. No assistance beyond the sending out of documents by the campaign committees has been drawn from the capital. No campaign contributions have been collected in the departments and there has been practically no money in the canvass from here. Whatever interest is felt in the result by the administration it rigidly abstains from anything [illegible] official interference. [illegible] to get the president to lend a hand have [illegible].

As to the general result of the election there is [illegible]. The democrats expect [illegible] their majority and the republicans do not expect to get control of the house. They say that whatever the result is as to parties there will be a very large number of new men in the next house.

According to reports received at the republican campaign headquarters it is claimed there that the next house of representatives will be democratic by a [illegible] majority.

CLEVELAND BOUGHT HIS PLACE.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—The World's Washington special says: The attempt to open up Massachusetts avenue, one of the great avenues of the northwestern part of the city will probably fail at present. There has been so much talk about a ring of speculators which has captured the heights beyond the city in the direction where this avenue would have to go that the whole section has risen up in protest so that it now appears that there will be a delay of two or three years perhaps in extending this avenue. No one who knows anything about the transaction believes that Cleveland was given his country place, he gave his personal check for $21,000 for the place, but there is no question that those who obtained early information of the purchase have made quite a good deal of money through purchases of property in the neighborhood.

THE POSTAL SERVICE.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—Estimates of the expenses of the postal service for the next fiscal year aggregate $56,31[illegible] while appropriations for the current year were $54,[illegible]5,864, showing an increase [illegible]. The estimates for the next year of $[illegible]. It is estimated that the ordinary revenue for the next fiscal year is $49,962,504 and revenue from the money order system $650,000, making the total estimated revenue $50,612,[illegible]. The estimated deficiency in receipts as compared with expenditures during next year is placed at $4,[illegible]95 54, while it is estimated that the current fiscal year will show a deficiency of $7,4[illegible] 14.

SPROULE TO HANG TO-DAY.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—The secretary of state made another effort to-day to secure a further reprieve for R. E. Sproule, condemned to be hanged to-morrow at Victoria, B. C. for murder. No reply has been received. It is presumed the Canadian authorities who postponed execution three times upon request of the American department of state will not show further leniency. The American consul at Victoria is thoroughly imbued with a belief that Sproule is innocent, which belief is shared by the mayor and many prominent British citizens at Victoria.

MANNING WILL RESUME CONTROL.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—Secretary Manning will resume actual control of the treasury department to-morrow and Mr Fairchild will be relieved of his duties as acting secretary which office he has held from the time Mr Manning was taken sick to date.

BURNED TO DEATH.

A WRECKED TRAIN CONSUMED

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 28.—The limited passenger train on the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul road, which left here last night at 10 o'clock was ditched at Rio when about three hours out and thrown into an old stone quarry. Particulars are hard to get but it is admitted at the general office of the company in this city that one coach and three sleepers were wrecked and five or six persons killed. Physicians left this city on the early train for the disaster.

It has since been reported that out of ten persons who occupied the passenger coach seven were killed. A gentleman from Chicago and two children from Winona are the only ones saved from the passenger coach. None of the occupants of the sleeper were injured. Nothing has yet been learned regarding the number of wounded.

Engineer Searle, at first reported killed, was only slightly hurt. A passenger who was on the wrecked train says the scenes after the accident were harrowing. The passenger coach, which he says contained between fifteen and twenty persons, was telescoped at both ends and the fire and smoke that enveloped the wreck prevented the imprisoned and injured passengers from escaping. The passengers from the sleepers gathered around the blazing cars but they were powerless to render assistance. Men and women could be seen tearing their hair in the agony of the moment and frightful screams issued from the death trap. One heavy woman in particular, he says, tore up one of the seats with almost superhuman strength and endeavored to break her way out of the flaming car. But her strength failed her and she fell to the floor and met a terrible death. Only three persons escaped from the car. Mr Lowenbach says a man and two children. The man was observed as he forced his way through a ventilator on top of the car with all the clothing on his body from the waist downward burned off and his flesh roasted and bleeding from cuts inflicted by broken glass. Every one of the wrecked cars was consumed, with the exception of the last sleeper which was cut away from the burning wreck. All of the bodies of the victims were burned in the wreck.

HOW THE DISASTER WAS CAUSED.

An Evening Wisconsin special from Portage, Wis., says: Last night, soon after midnight, the westbound limited express was ditched at Bas Rio siding, a small station about thirteen miles east of this city, on the main line of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway. There are two side tracks at the place and at the time the train was due there last night both were occupied by freights, one by a wild train and the other by train No. 14 (Conductor H. P. Hankey of this city) which had just pulled in from the west to allow the limited to pass.

No. 14 was very long, and the conductor was at the head of the train relying upon a brakeman to attend to the switch. One report says the rear brakeman whose business it was to close the switch after the train, for some reason neglected altogether to do so. Another and a more probable story is that he started back to close the switch but before he could reach it the limited, which does not stop at any except large places, came tearing down grade at fifty miles an hour and left the rails at the open switch.

The siding is in a cut where the road curves so that the switch light cannot be seen from the east until a train is within a few rods, so the engineer of the limited could not see the switch light turned the wrong way until it was too late to stop.

The engine left the track, ran a short distance and brought up against the side of the cut, toppling over. The baggage car and two regular coaches followed while the four sleepers left the rails.

AN AWFUL SCENE.

The engine and cars that went off were badly smashed and soon took fire from the stoves. Engineer Little and Fireman Egan crawled out from under the locomotive badly bruised and scalded. The baggageman had a leg broken.

All the passengers in the sleepers got out uninjured except slight bruises but in one of the day coaches thirteen were pinned in and literally burned to death. Many others were injured by the severe shaking up. The names of the victims are not yet known here.

The whole limited train with the exception of one sleeper which they were able to uncouple and draw away burned up.

Superintendent Collins was on east bound passenger No. 2 which was waiting at a station a few miles this side of the wreck for the limited and was soon at the scene. A wrecking train with surgeons went from this city and did all possible to alleviate the suffering and save life.

Conductor Hankey of the freight train was so demoralized by the accident, the responsibility of which rests on his crew and thus also on him, that he took to the woods in despair, leaving the train. He has always been a most careful and efficient man, much trusted by the company.

It was a most horrible and sickening spectacle, the burning people making night hideous with their screams, while the bystanders were unable to render assistance. It was the worst wreck ever known in the northwest.

ONLY THREE LIVES SAVED.

Another dispatch to the Evening Wisconsin from Rio, the scene of last night's railroad accident, says: In the day coach there were twelve or thirteen persons. One man and two children were the only ones saved. The others were burned in the car. The man who escaped had an arm broken and was otherwise bruised. He is now at Columbus, and is doing well. A woman whose home is in Winona handed her children out of a window and burned to death in the car. Lewis Brinker and Emil Woltersdorf of Columbus, Wis. are among the dead. The names and residences of the others cannot now be ascertained.

The coroner is holding an inquest on the charred trunks of bodies, all that is left of the ill fated travelers. The burning of the baggage car obliterates the only clue to the identity of the occupants of the burned car and it may never be known to a certainty how many perished in the wreck.

A MOTHER'S AWFUL FATE.

From the most reliable accounts obtainable it is [illegible] that the number who perished does not exceed [illegible] and these were all in the passenger coach next to the baggage car. The only occupants who escaped were two children whose mother, Mrs. C. Scherer of Winona, handed them out to a brakeman. Mrs Scherer was pinned down by a seat and was already enveloped in flames. The [illegible] hands were burned to a crisp.

None of the charred remains can be identified. [illegible] has learned those who perished are: Mrs C. Scherer of Winona, Minn.; Mrs Rosina Johnson, her mother in law; Louis Brinker, residence unknown; a young woman believed to be G. A. Marr of Chicago (her identity however is very uncertain); Emil Woltersdorff, residence unknown; five or more unknown persons; Sisters of Charity, one believed to be Mother superior of the convent at Winona, who [illegible] Milwaukee to establish a new convent.

The injured include Conductor Lucius Searle of Milwaukee, badly hurt about the chest but probably not fatally; Wade Clark, Oconomowoc, baggageman, leg broken; Charles F. Smith, 316 Wabash avenue, Chicago, broken arm and wrist, face badly [illegible] by broken spectacles; James Phillips, fireman, cut badly about the head.

[illegible] passengers in any of the sleepers were killed.

THE CONDUCTOR'S STORY.

The conductor was in the baggage car when the wreck occurred. With baggageman Clark and Phillips brakeman he was pinned under several [illegible], and they were unable to extricate themselves. To their horror they saw flames burst in. They redoubled their efforts and Phillips managed to crawl out. Conductor Searle, thus released, followed him. Clark with a broken leg was gotten out and the three crawled through a window as flames had crept up to within a few feet of them. The conductor is now lying prostrated at his home in Milwaukee and tells this story. He says, as nearly as he can recollect, the occupants of the car where the frightful incineration occurred included a woman with a little girl of about 6 years, another dark haired woman with a babe less than a year old, a blonde woman of 35 who seemed to be a companion of the former, both bound for St. Paul, and two Sisters of Charity traveling on a pass. He can recall no description of any others. He says there were not to exceed fifteen altogether. He has lost his tickets and so there is no record.

WORSE AND WORSE.

A late dispatch to the Sentinel estimates the number of people burned as twenty six. A force of men has been engaged to-night in raking over the ruins of the coaches. At 11 o'clock the charred remains of eleven victims had been taken out. In the pocket of one man was an envelope addressed J. T. [illegible]rin, Forty ninth street, Chicago, Ills. A traveling man named Dibble was among the victims. Mrs L. J. Lowery, of Milwaukee also perished. Brinker and Woldersdorf lived at Columbus, this state, and there boarded the train.

From all accounts there must have been a frightful time in the car wherein the fatalities occurred. The pressure caused the coach to assume the position of a letter V. The lamps were broken and the stove upturned, scattering fire and flames in all directions through the coach. The mangled and bleeding passengers were pinned securely by broken seats, many heaped one upon another. Their agonized shrieks told a story of fractured limbs to which was added the horror of cremation. It is positive that only three escaped. Chas. E. Smith is a medical student of Chicago. His parents live in Charles City, Iowa. Mrs. Scherer's two children whom she reached out of a window as the flames surrounded her are 4 years and 9 months old respectively.

The hero of the catastrophe was the engineer who in the face of seeming death held his hand on the throttle, and thus saved the lives of all the passengers in the sleeper. Then, when the train stopped, he scrambled out from beneath his engine bleeding and alarmed the sleepers of the danger from fire.

THE FREIGHT CONDUCTOR INSANE.

Conductor Hankey of the freight train who fled into the woods immediately after the catastrophe occurred has been found wandering around in a raving condition. He is likely to become a hopeless maniac.

A PASSENGER'S STATEMENT.

ST PAUL, Oct. 28.—The Globe has the following statement from Bishop Whipple in relation to the railway accident: "A freight train reached Rio about twenty minutes before the limited train, which was wrecked," said Bishop Whipple, "and the switch had been left open. Our train was going at the rate of forty five miles an hour, so train officials said, and the courage and bravery of the engineer cannot be praised too highly. He stayed with the engine, and I never knew an automatic brake set as quickly and strongly as that one was. Our train was composed of the engine, mail and baggage car, and coach and three sleepers. All except the sleepers went off the track and took fire immediately. I was in the first sleeper and had a berth in the end next the day coach. Mr McGinnis, of Morris, was in the berth opposite me. The instant of the shock he sprang from the berth and ran to the front end of the car but it was impossible to get out at that end for it had telescoped. I rushed back and cried out 'Come and help me save these people, who are being burned to death.' I had been awake but a few minutes before and had looked at my watch, it was 12:30 o'clock. I followed McGinnis in my stocking feet. He ran faster than I and when I came to the burning coach he had taken two children from a woman in the rear end of the coach. She said her name was Schever of Winona and asked him to save her children for their father was living. We both tried to lift the woman from the car, but we could not for she was wedged in beneath a broken seat. A moment after we reached her her dress took fire and she fainted and was burned to death before our eyes.

"There was comparatively little screaming coming from the car, but there was rather a low moan of suffering. I believe that most of those who perished were killed outright. The car was telescoped at both ends. Mr Ames, who was on the train, saw the passengers in that coach, and so did my wife and they think there were seventeen. There were two Sisters of Charity who boarded the train and were bound for Winona, there were a mother and daughter whose names are unknown, three young men, a middle aged man, Mrs Scherer, her mother and his children, a man that got on at Columbus, two men who boarded the car at Watertown Junction, and Mr Clarke, who climbed out at the top. He and the children were saved; the others were burned to death.

"In about an hour and a half Mr Collins, superintendent of that division, arrived from Milwaukee and Philip Langley and Mr Boyden of the company were on the train, and everything was done that could be done for the comfort of the passengers who were left. The ladies on the train were especially kind in caring for the two motherless children. One was a little girl about 4 years old and the other a baby, a little boy. The passengers in the sleeping cars had some slight bruises but none were seriously hurt."

ENGLAND.

HOPE FOR DILKE.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—T. P. O'Connor's London cable to the Star says: Important discoveries have been made seriously compromising Mrs. Ashton Dilke in the divorce proceedings brought against Sir Charles Dilke. The discoveries were made by an independent committee of investigation. The opinion of the committee generally is so far as the inquiry has gone that Sir Charles Dilke has placed in their possession evidence going far to establish his defense, that the whole story told in court against Sir Charles was false, created for the purpose of ruining the co-respondent. It seems probable now that the report of the committee will be substantially that the accusations against Sir Charles were trumped up.

NOT ALLOWED TO PREACH.

LONDON, Oct. 28.—Rev. Hugh Reginald Haweis, vicar of St. James Episcopal chapel, Marylebone, was announced to preach to-day in the City Temple, the congregation of which Rev. Joseph Parker is pastor. When the time for the beginning of the services arrived Mr Haweis did not appear and Dr Parker announced to those who had assembled that Mr Haweis's bishop had forbidden him to preach in the City Temple. This statement was received with cries of "Shame! Shame!"

RACING AT NEWMARKET.

LONDON, Oct. 28.—This was the fourth day of the Newmarket Houghton meeting. The race for the Houghton handicap plate was won by the Duke of Westminster's three-year-old colt Ormond, Prince Soltykoff's three-year-old colt Mephisto second and A. Sassoon's three-year-old colt Theodore third.

NOTES FROM LONDON.

LONDON, Oct. 28.—Lord Lytton will succeed Lord Lyons as British ambassador to Paris.

COLLISION IN THE THAMES.

LONDON, Oct. 28.—The steamer Borderer from [illegible]ton collided with the Minerva in the Thames. The latter vessel was sunk and seven persons drowned. The Borderer sustained little damage.

AFRICA.

THE MURDER OF BISHOP HANNINGTON.

LONDON, Oct. 28.—The diary of Bishop Hannington, who was put to death by order of King Mwanga, of Uganda, Africa, has been published, giving the details of the last week of his life. He describes the arrival of his party at Lubwas, where the chief at the head of a thousand troops demanded ten guns and three barrels of powder. The chief asked Bishop Hannington to remain with him a day and the latter complied. While taking a walk the bishop was attacked by twenty natives. He struggled with his assailants, but became weak and faint, and was dragged violently a long distance by the legs. When his persecutors halted they stripped, robbed and imprisoned him in a hut full of vermin and decaying bananas. While he was lying there helpless the chief and his hundred wives came out of curiosity, to feast their eyes on him. The next day he was allowed to return to his tent where though still ill he felt more comfortable. He was still guarded, however, by natives. He remained in bed during the following days. Parties of the chief's wives, out of idle curiosity, came daily to see him. He was [illegible] to send messages to friends, but he believed they were intercepted. On the seventh day he writes the fever continued, that at night the hut swarmed with vermin, that the guards were drunk and noisy and that he was unable to sleep, and at last he became delirious. On the eighth day, October 29, he was conscious. His entries on this day were: "No news. Hyena howled all night, smelling a sick man. He does not have me yet." This is the final entry. It is believed that shortly after this writing he was taken out and put to death. Throughout the week there were frequent entries referring to the comfort he derived from reading the Psalms.

THE EASTERN QUESTION.

ENGLAND AND GERMANY.

LONDON, Oct. 28.—The Standard says: A report telegraphed from Berlin that Germany is willing to see Prince Alexander back on the Bulgarian throne is discredited. In some of the tory clubs reports of a renewed understanding between England and Germany on the colonial question, based on the acceptance by Germany of Queen Victoria's nominee for Bulgaria, is again put into circulation. In these quarters it is insisted that Churchill has effected closer relations between England and Germany than have been known since the days of Waterloo, and he is daily communicating through the foreign office with Berlin.

Advices were received at a late hour last night from various continental capitals confirming the report that a party is in course of formation to proclaim East Roumelia and Bulgaria a republic.

THE SITUATION AT SOFIA.

SOFIA, Oct. 28.—At a private meeting at Tirnova of deputies belonging to the government party it was unanimously decided to adhere to the government's policy toward Russia.

Gen. Kaulbars has telegraphed to the regency advising the raising of the state of seige at Sofia and Varna. The Russian consul at Varna threatens to order Russian war ships to bombard the town unless the prefect permits free access of Russo-Bulgarian partisans to the Russian consulate or if he tries to prevent the landing of sailors from the war ships.

GERMANY.

NOTES FROM BERLIN.

BERLIN, Oct. 28.—Abbe Collin, editor of the Lorraine, published at Metz, has been indicted for trial for attacking judges concerned in the recent sentencing of Abbe Sabouret, for invoking divine protection on the French.

Herr Schulz, editor of the Bamberg Journal, has been sentenced to one month's imprisonment for attacking the Bavarian ministers dealing with the late King Ludwig. Discontent is growing in Bavaria at incessant press prosecutions.

At Triberg, in the Black forest, the house of a miller named Sisset was destroyed by fire. Sisset, his wife, four children and a servant were burned to ashes. The remains were buried in one grave.

Is it not Singular

that consumptives should be the least apprehensive of their own condition, while all their friends are urging and beseeching them to be more careful about exposure and overdoing. It may well be considered one of the most alarming symptoms of the disease, where the patient is reckless and will not believe that he is in danger. Reader, if you are in this condition do not neglect the only means of recovery. Avoid exposure and fatigue, be regular in your habits, and use faithfully of Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery." It has saved thousands who were steadily failing.

The Oregonian.

PORTLAND, FRIDAY, OCT. 29, 1886.

AN IMPRACTICABLE PROPOSITION.

The recent conference at Lake Mohonk, Indiana, in which Senator Dawes, President Gilman of Johns Hopkins university, President Gates of Rutgers' college, President Garrett of the national board of charities, and many other worthy and eminent men took an interested part, devoted most of its time to seeking a "practical solution of the Indian problem," and it was decided after much discussion that the thing requisite was to make the Indian a citizen. It was resolved that—

It is our conviction that the duties of citizenship are of such a nature that they can only be learned by example and practice, and we believe that quicker and surer progress in industry education and morality will be secured by giving citizenship first, than by making citizenship depend upon the attainment of any standard of education and conduct, and we therefore urge upon congress the necessity of ceasing to treat the Indians as incapable of bearing responsibilities and the advantage of compelling them to undertake the same responsibilities that we impose upon all other human beings competent to distinguish right and wrong.

This proposition is diametrically at odds with the sentiment rapidly growing in the country, that citizenship, in its higher privileges, at least, should depend upon reasonable standards of education and conduct. There is in the United States already far too much ignorant and irresponsible citizenship, and it would be a grievous wrong, an outrage, to increase it by taking in a body of people who have no more fitness for its duties than the beasts of the field. Against this proposition there will be an indignant protest from all the states and territories in which there remains a considerable Indian population

There is a very general sentiment in the United States, and it proceeds from the best of motives, that the Indian race should be preserved and conserved no matter at what cost. Under this sentiment various plans have been tried and, up to this time, all have failed. After a century of effort an Indian decently educated, cleanly and moral is a curiosity. There has been no progress, practically, toward civilization, and the Indian remains as ignorant, savage and incapable as when the effort was begun Under the process the race has steadily and rapidly dwindled. The commonest diseases of civilization are fatal to a people to whom they are wholly new, and who have not been inoculated, so to speak, through preceding generations. Consumption, smallpox, and even the measles carry them off in great numbers. Confinement or regular industry breeds decay within them. After witnessing the results of humane effort to save the Indian, in several of its forms, we are forced to the opinion that the thing cannot be done. The race, we believe, is destined to perish from the earth

A MATTER OF LOCATION

We are told that the proposition to increase the capital of the fat stock show, and to establish it permanently in a park of its own, adapted for racing and other sports, will be carried out. The money has not yet been subscribed, but capitalists stand ready to supply it whenever the plans are made definite and satisfactory. The first business is the selection of a site, and it is of the highest importance that no mistake be made in this matter, since much depends upon the situation, convenience and beauty of the proposed park. The trotting park north of the city is only one of many tracts which might be secured for the purpose, and before the final choice is made the merits of all should be canvassed carefully. The first consideration is room enough. The next is convenience to the city, including facilities for passage to and from at the lowest possible cost. The next is as to the beauty of tract itself, and of its surroundings. The first cost of the property is, of course, a matter for consideration, and one which those who are to supply the money will scrutinize very closely. The trotting park north of the city lies very low, and we are told that much of it is liable to overflow This, of course, would be a serious if not a fatal objection. There are several other tracts which might be secured—the Thompson (R. R.) property three miles out on the White House road, several tracts off toward Mount Tabor or back of Albina, or the City View park, three miles up river, and on the east side. This last place is easily accessible by boat and (when the bridge is done) by road. There are, perhaps, many other situations equally favorable, and all should be examined carefully.

A SHORT CUT.

There is some danger that the town of Corvallis, in Benton county, through a change in the channel of the Willamette river, will be left a mile or more inland. This danger is not immediate, and fortunately it is of a kind which may be averted. The town is situated on a wide bend, a sort of loop, across which the river is making for itself a new and direct course. During times of high water a strong stream rushes across this new cut-off, and already a channel of considerable depth has been sluiced out. It is feared that the floods of the coming winter will make through this cut-off a permanent stream, and that in three or four seasons more the main current will be diverted to the new course This will not occur if measures are taken to confine the river to its proper channel, and this of course will be done. This is rightly the work of the United States engineer in charge of the river, who is not likely to allow it to be neglected. But if he should fail to interest himself in it the people of Corvallis might at their own charge protect their own interests

We are told that Corvallis is showing a very active spirit this fall Business of every kind is improving, and times are good Several enterprises looking to local development are proposed, among them a bridge across the river, which would bring large sections of Linn and Lane counties into direct relations with the town

The Episcopal church convention [illegible] at Chicago was the most important meeting of that church in recent times. In it was displayed a new spirit of liberality toward other Christian sects and a new fervor in missionary work, indicating a revival in the energies of a church whose policy in recent years has been conservative if not positively exclusive The best of the several new works proposed is that for the elevation of the colored people of our Southern states. A commission was organized with authority to employ agents to "spread themselves throughout the region of black illiteracy and ignorance, go into the homes of the poor and wretched freedmen and aid in the slow but necessary work of lifting them out of the ignorance and degradation of centuries of enslavement." The cause is a holy one and it ought to prosper and will prosper no doubt. But it may be doubted if the Episcopal church is as well adapted for this work as some other churches, whose organization and forms of worship and government are more popular in their character. Differences in churches in this country (leaving the Catholic church out of consideration) represent differences between people in the matter of culture, habit and taste rather than vital differences in faith The colored people of the South, for the most part, are crude, simple as children in mind, inclined by nature to religion, but to religion in its emotional rather than its esthetic forms.

The railroad disaster in Wisconsin yesterday is one of those dreadful occurrences which no sort of prudence seems able to avert. A generation which harnesses up the forces of nature and rides apace with the winds must sometimes suffer the penalties of hardihood

The state of the weather at New York yesterday illustrates the practical worthlessness of our signal bureau. A weather service which costs nearly a million a year ought to be able to scare up a good day upon occasion.

The Umatilla Indians have agreed to accept the terms of settlement in severalty proposed by the government, and, it is reported, will sign the papers to-day. We shall have more faith in the settlement when the papers are actually signed, since the Indian, like the Irishman's flea, is very often "not there when you've got your finger on him."

THE LATE CHIEF JUSTICE CHASE.

Ex-Gov. Hoadly, in his oration at the recent burial of the remains of Salmon P. Chase in Ohio, argued that Chase was the general in the anti-slavery cause while Garrison and Phillips were only daring scouts. He rightly says that it was Judge Chase "who brought great legal learning and a powerful mind to the task of convincing men that the fugitive slave law could and should be resisted as unconstitutional, because, though the constitution embraced a provision for the return of fugitives, it added no grant of legislative power to congress over that subject, and therefore left to the states alone the power to devise proper legislation. Resting this argument on the tenth amendment, Mr. Chase added the conclusion drawn from the seventh amendment and the common law, that no person could be deprived of liberty or of rights without trial by jury"

In other words, Judge Chase taught "the nation to resist the fugitive slave law as a violation of the constitution," and this Gov. Hoadly thinks made its abolition, either by the dry rot of economic and industrial causes, or by the rude hand of war invoked in its defense, inevitable. Judge Chase in his place as governor of Ohio and as U. S. senator did a great work, and it is due to him to say that, although naturally of a cold and ambitious nature, he was true to the anti-slavery cause at a time when it was so unpopular that James G. Birney's press was destroyed in Cincinnati and fugitive negroes mobbed, when no person of negro blood was allowed to testify in the courts of Ohio.

It is true that Secretary Chase was the first man in Lincoln's cabinet earnestly to urge the policy of emancipation upon the president, and it was Chase's pen that traced the words with which Lincoln's proclamation of emancipation ended, the only substantial change or addition made to the document "And upon this act, sincerely believed to be an act of justice, warranted by the constitution upon military necessity, I invoke the considerate judgment of mankind and the gracious favor of Almighty God"

As early as January 2, 1865, Chase wrote Gen. Sherman in favor of negro soldiers and predicting that in the political reorganization of the states then in insurrection, political as well as natural rights would be conceded to the blacks, and frankly admitting he personally favored granting the ballot to all citizens irrespective of color, who were educated, and to all who had borne arms for the Union. In this letter to Sherman, published in the North American Review for September, Chase says "Without this I see no security against attempted re-enslavement, against the most inhuman and cruel discrimination and treatment of the colored people as a class, or against the ascendency of the disloyal element in the insurgent states, as soon as the military pressure shall be removed" Chase [illegible] that reorganization without the blacks would work more practical evil than it would avoid, but Sherman evidently did not agree with him Chase lived to see negro suffrage become universal as amnesty, and he lived to see it become a legal farce and followed by all "that inhuman and cruel discrimination and treatment of the colored people as a class" which he hoped by the establishment of negro suffrage to avoid Chase lived to see the "ascendency of the disloyal element" he so much dreaded in the reconstructed states, as soon as the military pressure was removed by Hayes, and yet while the gift of the suffrage to the negro did not answer the hopes of Chase it is probably safe to say that worse evils than the present would probably have followed a complete denial of suffrage to the blacks. Such a denial would have been impracticable save with the perpetuation of the military governments that preceded reconstruction. With the states once reconstructed probably the present situation is better with its imperfect justice than the evils that would have ensued with a denial of suffrage to whites and blacks both for twenty years. Granting the ballot to whites and blacks both has been attended by unsatisfactory consequences and even outrageous evils, but it would have a far worse situation probably, had it been denied to both or granted to one and denied to the other.

We do not agree with ex-Gov. Hoadly that Chase was conspicuously the general of the anti-slavery conflict, and that Garrison and Phillips were only daring scouts, who enraged the South but could not make slavery insecure or work it injury under the constitution, as Chase did by his legal argument against the validity of the fugitive slave law The truth is, that the anti-slavery agitation owed its formidable, sentimental growth to three great events rather than to either Garrison or Chase. These were the murder of Lovejoy by the pro-slavery mob of Alton, Ill., in November, 1837, the beating of Sumner in 1856 on the floor of the senate by Brooks, and the raid of John Brown on Harper's Ferry in October, 1859, and his subsequent execution. To these causes of tremendous popular conviction might be added the publication of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" by Mrs. Stowe, which roused all the women to the barbarism and brutality that was possible under a system of human bondage. Lovejoy's murder changed Phillips from a handsome, fluent young philosopher concerning slavery and free speech to an agitator whose eloquent tongue never rested or gave anybody else rest till slavery was destroyed Phillips was anti slavery from the day of the Garrison mob, but the murder of Lovejoy furnished him with his tongue of flame and made thousands of moderate men into radical followers of Phillips The beating of Sumner sent thousands into the ranks of the republican party, and the hanging of Brown increased the hostility to slavery and all its works to a point of impatience that made Lincoln's election sure. Without the death of Lovejoy, the beating of Sumner and the hanging of Brown, the American conflict would not have been brought to battle for another century at least.

THE THIRD AUDITOR'S REPORT.

The State War Claims in a Tangled Condition—The Government Swindled

WASHINGTON, Oct 28.—Third Auditor Williams' report was sent to the secretary of the treasury to-day In submitting this report he says that it affords him pleasure to direct attention to the improved condition of the business of the office as disclosed in the operations of the several divisions compared with the preceding year The total number of claims accounts and cases settled and disposed of during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1886, was 11 636, involving $153 401 724. During the preceding fiscal year the number was 8910 involving $31,578 605 An increase of 34 per cent is thus shown over 1884-5 in the number of claims, etc, disposed of, and about 74 per cent. in the money involved

Referring to state war claims, the auditor says While a full investigation has not been completed a cursory examination unfolds gross irregularities arising out of absolute carelessness or willful perpetration of fraud The officer, after a thorough examination of the claims of the state of Indiana, says that in round numbers $98,000 had been illegally allowed. Fifty two thousand dollars of this sum were, in the year 1874, discovered and withheld from credit found due the state, and upon investigation now $46 000 more made up of accounts allowed in excess of vouchers presented, amounts allowed twice for the same service and amounts allowed without vouchers, appear as legitimate charge against the state.

In the matter of the claims of the state of Vermont, it appears that for want of proper system in keeping the accounts $225 2?4 have been at various times since the close of the war paid to the state which instead should have been applied to its indebtedness amounting to $543 780, charged against the state on the books of the ordnance office of the war department, being the money value of arms equipments etc, furnished by the United States in the years 1863-4, which have never been returned or accounted for The auditor states that he is informed that the state of Vermont sold the greater portion of these arms to a foreign country—Turkey—and deposited the proceeds amounting to $170 000 in her treasury

At this time the claims of the state of Iowa are receiving attention but the examination is not sufficiently advanced to include a full report Enough however has been discovered the auditor says to warrant the conclusion that a considerable sum [illegible] paid the state [illegible] of [illegible] on account of [illegible] the same services having been previously paid for by the United States paymaster

How to Shorten Life

The receipt is simple You have only to take a violent cold and neglect it. Abernethy the great English surgeon, asked a lady who told him she only had a cough. "What would you have? The plague? Beware of 'only coughs." The worst cases can, however, be cured by DR WM HALL'S BALSAM FOR THE LUNGS. In Whooping Cough and Croup it immediately allays irritation, and is sure to prevent a fatal termination of the disease. Sold by druggists.

CRIMINAL CALENDAR.

A TERRIBLE MURDER MYSTERY.

BALTIMORE Oct. 28.—Michael Long, an oyster dredger, told a strange story to the United States commissioner yesterday He was one of the crew of the oyster schooner Silver Spray, he said, and while in the Honga river recently another oyster schooner was seen lying at anchor, with sails set. The captain ordered him to row over to it as it had a suspicious appearance Long rowed to the schooner and climbed to the deck There stretched on the deck, were the bodies of four men bathed in blood The head of one was split open as though he had been killed with [illegible] The other men had been shot through the [illegible] The men appeared to be Germans. [illegible] a bloody trail [illegible] as if one or more of the [illegible] had been shot while [illegible] and then had dragged themselves on deck to die

The schooner Silver Spray, to which Long belongs, is not in port at present The United States authorities have turned the case over to the local authorities for investigation

A FUGITIVE ARRESTED

LOUISVILLE Oct. 28.—Charles Henderson, backer of Tommy Warren the pugilist, who is charged with swindling a Shelby county farmer out of $400 and who skipped after giving small bail, was rearrested to-day near Bardstown, Ky. He was traveling through the county in a buggy making his way to Tennessee He will be brought back here

"PORTLAND HEIGHTS."

The particular attention of seekers for suburban property is directed to "Portland Heights." This is the most magnificent property ever offered to the public and purchasers are not subjected to the hardships, privations and annoyances incident to reaching their property, such as crossing the river in all kinds of weather, ferry hours, waits at ferry slips, traveling a long road—to and from, dusty in summer and muddy in winter. This property is within the city limits, easily accessible by two newly improved and macadamized roads, the Montgomery street and the [illegible] south street, a few blocks from the street cars on Montgomery street and in full view of the city. Finest view on earth. Fine water in abundance. [illegible] natural shade trees. Good soil. Is 400 to 700 feet above low water. Prevailing winds are from north west in summer and is a direct ocean breeze and not from Willamette and Columbia river sloughs. No high winds here. Is as free of malaria as the summit of Mt. Hood. Absolutely no disadvantages. No cash payment required. Monthly installments no greater than house rent in the city. EUGENE D. WHITE, Agent, Rooms 8, C and D second floor N. W. cor. CONSTRUCTION OF WATER WORKS.

OFFICE OF THE WATER COMMITTEE,
PORTLAND OREGON October 8, 1886.

SEALED PROPOSALS FOR THE CONSTRUCTION of works for the water supply of the city of Portland Oregon, will be received at this office until 12 M. December 15th, 1886.

These works will be constructed according to the printed specifications dated August 28th, 1886, and will include thirty-one miles of wrought iron pipe, 27 and 28 inches in diameter, three iron bridges, two thousand feet of submerged pipe under and across the Willamette river, a reservoir within the city limits, and all other works described in the specifications, excepting those specified as "Head works," which are now under contract.

The specifications provide that the wrought-iron pipes shall be made of iron sixty inches in width, but proposals will also be received for furnishing the iron, and for manufacturing the entire length of pipe of iron either forty-two, forty eight, or sixty inches in width.

Proposals will also be received for the construction of all the works described in the specifications, excepting the Head works for a lump sum, the contractor being at liberty to use iron for the pipes either forty two, forty-eight, or sixty inches in width. The whole work to be completed within eighteen months after signing the contract.

In these modified forms of proposals the width of iron proposed will be stated in the bids, and a copy of this advertisement will be attached to each bid.

The proposals will be endorsed on the outside of the sealed envelope, "Proposals for Construction of Water Works," and addressed to Philip C. Schuyler, clerk of the Water Committee, Portland, Oregon.

The specifications and such further information as may be required will be furnished on application by
ISAAC W. SMITH,
Engineer of the Water Committee,
10o:td Portland, Oregon.

SALEM NOTES.

SALEM Oct [illegible]

Mr and Mrs. E. C. Churchill, of this city buried their infant child a few days since.

[illegible] of Portland and Miss Alice Shirley of Salem were married in this city last evening.

Bert Lowe has been appointed night watchman at the depot, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of the late D F Latourette.

Sheriff Smith of Linn county arrived here this morning, having in charge one Charles O Neil convicted of the crime of larceny from a [illegible] and sentenced to one year's imprisonment in the state penitentiary

Capital Engine Co. No. 1 of this city will house their new steamer with appropriate ceremonies on Monday evening next, the occasion to wind up with a banquet. A general reception will be held from 7:30 to 9 o'clock P. M., and supper at 9:30 for the members of the company and specially invited guests.

The force of carpenters, mechanics and laborers now employed on the state capitol building is undoubtedly the largest ever employed on a single structure in this state. The storm of yesterday compelled the temporary suspension of outside work, but the force of carpenters, plasterers and laborers on the interior are literally turning things upside down.

Gov Moody has recently made the following executive appointments: W H H. Sampson Oregon City; George Griswold Lincoln; G W Prosser [illegible]; T. B. Buttolph Florence; C A Heath [illegible]; J J Balleray Pendleton; [illegible] Rock, D. H Gager, Wasco; [illegible] Portland; D G Latourette, Oregon City; George Sewell, Albany; M S Woodcock Corvallis; C W P Ellsworth La Grande notaries public for Oregon. S. L. Taylor [illegible] Walnut street Philadelphia, and George W Traver Tacoma commissioners for Oregon. B S. Pague captain S. C. Flint, first lieutenant, and John Chase second lieutenant, Co. A, First regiment First brigade O. N. G. with headquarters at Roseburg

The vouchers, muster rolls and documents connected with Oregon's part in the late civil war [illegible] by Secretary Earhart collected, arranged, copied and forwarded to the war department at Washington City, with a view of having the state reimbursed by the general government for expenses actually and necessarily incurred by her in the enlistment, arming, equipment and maintenance of troops engaged in the suppression of the rebellion. These claims have been pending before congress for many months awaiting the appointment of a military commission to examine and report upon the same. This commission has finally been appointed and consists of Major Biddle, Major Farnsworth and Capt. [illegible], of the regular army, and indications are very flattering for immediate and favorable action in the matter, which will result in great benefit to the financial resources of the state, the claims aggregating in the immediate neighborhood of $[illegible].

THE COURTS

The suit of B. Gerdes vs. George C Sears is still on trial in state circuit court, department No 1 All the evidence is in and the arguments in the case are being made.

Another suit has been commenced in the state circuit court against X. E. Burns and Walter F. Burns of the Pacific Glass company. The plaintiff, the Charles Parker company of Connecticut, sue to recover $2292 53 for goods sold and delivered.

Suit was commenced in the state circuit court yesterday by H. Sikes & Co against D C Ainsley to recover $[illegible] for cigars etc., sold and delivered.

Last Wednesday two attachment suits were brought in the state circuit court against F. Shan [illegible]. One was by Ah Fle to recover $4[illegible] 25 for [illegible] hours' labor performed between and including [illegible] 26, 1886, and the 25th of the present month. The other action was brought by Jim [illegible]. He alleges that between May 1, 1886 and October [illegible] he manufactured 303,296 fruit cans for [illegible] and was to be paid $1061 53 for same. He [illegible] performed 852¼ hours labor for which he was to receive ten cents an hour being $85 2[illegible] making a total sum due him of $1146 73 He alleges that he received $835 75, leaving a balance unpaid of $[illegible], for which he sued. Yesterday in Judge [illegible]'s court the attachments were dissolved, a settlement having been arrived at

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

CAPT DRUMMOND'S SUICIDE.—Purser Dillingham of the H R Thompson who came up yesterday related to an OREGONIAN reporter some particulars of the suicide of Capt. A M Drummond of the British bark Don Wednesday afternoon. It was evident to Mr Dillingham when he went around to collect tickets that Drummond was insane He refused to give up his ticket and said that men were pursuing him for the purpose of taking his life Mr Dillingham smoothed him down as best he could and so long as Drummond was spoken to pleasantly and assured from time to time that he was safe he remained quiet but he would not remain alone in his stateroom Mr Dillingham remained with him a good share of the time until noon and put one of the deck hands to watch when he left. Shortly after dinner had been served Drummond came out of his room into the forward cabin and sat down. The deck hand taking a seat near him Suddenly he rose and rushed aft through the dining room Mr Dillingham who was in his office hastily followed but it was a second too late Drummond flew through the ladies cabin threw open the after door ran out on the guard and dived astern Mr Dillingham rushed down the after companionway and had the engines stopped immediately He says the next time they have a crazy passenger he shall insist that the patient be strapped to the deck From several ship [illegible] here it is learned that Drummond was suffering from delirium tremens He was only 26 years old and had recently been promoted to master. Accustomed to the busy life of first or second mate the less active duties of master and the absence of companionship created ennui and he took to drink While under the influence of liquor he mistreated his men shamefully and when they arrived here they applied to the U S court for a discharge which was granted

U S GRAND JUROR MISSING.—Among the U S grand jurors who presented themselves in the district court on Wednesday the [illegible]th inst was Job Connor a wealthy farmer of Salt Creek Polk county He was present at every roll call of the jury up to Saturday last and was seen by friends on Monday since which time he has been missing His family were telegraphed to concerning him and a reply was received stating that he had not been at his home since leaving A son of Mr Connor arrived here yesterday to institute a search for the old gentleman. The chief of police is anxious to ascertain where Mr Connor roomed. Following is a description of the missing man Sixty years old height 5 feet 10 inches light complexion rather corpulent weight about 200 pounds full gray beard about three inches long He was dressed in black long sack coat and wore a black soft felt hat with wide brim His disappearance is very mysterious as he was a man of temperate habits and had considerable knowledge of the world As his business was at the U S court building he is supposed to have had a room in that vicinity Any information in regard to him will be thankfully received by the chief of police

INDICTMENT AGAINST SHERIFF JORDAN.—The U S grand jury yesterday returned a true bill in the case of the United States vs Thomas A Jordan sheriff of Multnomah county The charge against Sheriff Jordan is violation of Sec 5399 of the revised statutes of the United States which is as follows Every person who corruptly or by threats or force endeavors to influence intimidate or impede any witness or officer in any court of the United States in the discharge of his duty or corruptly or by threats or force obstructs or impedes or endeavors to obstruct or impede the due administration of justice therein shall be punished by a fine of not more than $500 or by imprisonment not more than three months or both The specific charge against Sheriff Jordan is that he attempted to obstruct justice by corruptly persuading Thomas Mountain a witness in a case against one Wise charged with bribing voters not to obey the subpena of the U S court.

AN OLD FABLE ILLUSTRATED.—A Washington county farmer whom an OREGONIAN reporter tackled yesterday for an item of news said he did not know anything new but that he had a pretty good lawyer's story which the people in Hillsboro were laughing at. It was somewhat old, he said but worth telling An old couple who had been married for thirty five or forty years concluded that there was too much incompatibility of temper for them to live together longer and they separated Each applied for a divorce The man owned a team and wagon He engaged Tom Tongue to prosecute his case. The woman owned six cows She retained Tom Handley as her lawyer After the cases had hung fire in the courts for two years or so a divorce was refused but by that time Tongue owned the team and wagon and Handley the cattle

GENERAL SMASHUP.—Mr F Vigne Andrews while driving down Third street yesterday, met a man driving up on the wrong side of the street who in endeavoring to cross the railway track slued his vehicle around striking the wheel of Mr Andrews's cart and upsetting it. He was somewhat dazed by the tumble but held to the lines and was dragged with his cart at the rate of sixty miles an hour up to one of the large locust trees north of Taylor street where the cart and harness were divorced and a general dissolution of the outfit took place. Mr Andrews succeeded in catching his horse and hiring an expressman to carry the fragments of his cart and the whole made a rather attractive procession

STEALING PLUMBERS ARTICLES.—There have been a number of depredations committed in vacant houses in various parts of the city lately Strange to say the only things the thieves who are said to be a gang of bad boys seem to care for are plumbers goods Lead waste pipes faucets and even stationary wash basins are among the articles missing One gentleman who owns a large number of houses and who has been a sufferer to a considerable extent by this plundering says he thinks some plumber must be at the bottom of it As most of this pilfering is done in the daytime it is strange that some of the thieves are not caught

INCORPORATION.—Articles of incorporation were filed yesterday in the auditor's office by D H Stearns and L H Burton of La Camas and John F Stearns of Chicago incorporating the Columbia Lumber and Building company We understand it is the intention of this company to manufacture the woodwork for houses ready for erection shipping whole houses at once. THE EAST SIDE.

ACCIDENTALLY KILLED

A little after 11 o'clock yesterday morning news was brought to this city by Mr T G Earle that George Schell of this city had been killed Mr Earle came in on horseback from Leach's place on the Vancouver road about two and one half miles from this city and stated that a half an hour previous he had found the dead body of Schell lying in the road running through the timber and about 200 yards further at the corner of the road leading to this city he found the four horse team which Schell had been driving with the wagon turned over It was his opinion that Schell who was hauling wood from that place for Monroe & Parker of this city had started with his load and had accidentally fell or been thrown off the load and the wheels had passed over him killing him instantly Mr Earle left the body just as he found it and rode rapidly to this city and informed Messrs Munroe & Parker for whom the deceased had been working and his mother who is a widow and resides in Soden's building on I street. The coroner was notified and in company with others drove out to the place where the body was found in a badly mutilated condition both arms being broken and the neck mashed and it was evident to all that the deceased had fallen from the spring seat to the ground in front of the wagon and the wheels had passed diagonally over his neck and breast just missing the base of the skull No one was present to witness the accident and no information could be obtained except that of Mr Earle who found the body and afterwards the team and overturned wagon It was therefore deemed useless to hold an inquest. The body was brought to the undertaking rooms of F S Dunning where it was placed in a coffin and will be taken to Silverton on this morning's train where the funeral services will take place from the residence of a sister residing there

Saunders Sentenced to be Hanged December 23.

AN APPEAL IMMEDIATELY TAKEN

Sproule Must Hang To-day—The Railroad Men Reach an Agreement—Indians to Take Land in Severalty

ALBANY Or Oct 28—When court convened at 10 o'clock to-day the courtroom was crowded to standing with an eager crowd to hear W W Saunders sentenced

Soon after the judge took his seat the prosecuting attorney's request he ordered Saunders brought in When asked if he had anything to say why sentence should not be passed upon him the prisoner answered I believe not The judge then sentenced him to be taken to the county jail and there kept in close confinement until Thursday December 23 between the hours of 12 M and 2 P M when he is to be taken to the place of execution and hanged by the neck until dead

Saunders showed no emotion whatever during the trying ordeal through which he passed and after leaving the courtroom calmly lit a cigar which he smoked while being returned to the jail

Judge Boise has signed the bill of exception upon which his case will be carried to the supreme court The exceptions consist of about twenty five pages of legal cap coarsely written mostly evidence and questions asked the jurors The principal points are exceptions to Messrs Parker S A Nickerson and S F Barger acting as jurors to the evidence of Mrs Campbell, J H Campbell and Dr Maston in regard to Campbell's dying declaration and questions asked defendant by the state's attorney on cross-examination also a portion of the judge's charge to the jury

BRITISH COLUMBIA.

SPROULE MUST HANG TO-DAY

VICTORIA Oct 28—R F Sproule sentenced for the murder of Hammill in Kootenay and reprieved until to-morrow the 29th will be hanged at 8 o'clock instructions having been received to that effect It had been thought after the frequent reprieves that sentence would be commuted but it was decided that the law must take its course

Sproule was unnerved when the announcement was first made and would not credit it but to-day is resigned and spent the greater portion in writing, and with his spiritual advisers It was feared that it would break him down completely but he now seems calm

A telegram was received from the Boston Globe to-day stating that Sproule had been left a fortune in the hands of a lawyer there and wanting to know what Sproule wished done with it Neither Sproule nor counsel know anything in reference to the matter The information is possibly wrong, and Sproule has not yet been informed of the fact. The probability is that he will never know

This evening Sheriff McMillan visited the yard and tested the scaffold which is the same as has been used on former occasions The execution will only be witnessed by government officials and members of the press

A visit late last night to Sproule was made by Consul Stevens and the condemned man was beside himself with rage cursing the country and bitterly denouncing what he considered the tyranny of its laws

SUPREME COURT DECISION

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 28.—The supreme court to-day rendered a decision in the case of Meeker vs Dalton The case involved title to a lot of land in Lodi Cal which had been sold with adjacent property by plaintiff to one George Ringer who, in turn deeded it to Dalton. Subsequently Meeker discovered that the lot in controversy was not included by mistake in the deed and commenced suit for its possession The case was decided in the lower court in favor of defendant and appeal was taken In deciding the appeal the supreme court held that the fact that the land in question was intended to be conveyed to defendant by deed from plaintiff even though by mistake it was not included in the description establishes his right to possession and constitutes a defense as equitable as a legal title The judgment of the lower court was therefore affirmed

MOST'S OPINION OF GEORGE'S CANDIDACY

NEW YORK Oct 28—The World publishes an interview with Herr Most—now confined on Blackwell's island—in which the socialist says

From what my friends tell me I presume George will get 80 000 votes and if he receives half that number it will show an increase in the strength of socialism for the past year such as has not been known in twenty years. Many converts to socialism will be made as the direct result of George's election if he is elected The laboring men will expect more than he can give them and when they find how little changed their condition is they will be as dissatisfied as ever When once they know their strength and feel the power disappointment will rankle in them and they will become arrogant. Then arouse them It remains to preach to them two things That their condition is the result of injustice and oppression and that it is in their power to overthrow the oppressor I believe that Henry George himself must certainly become a convert to revolutionary doctrines.

Vicar General Preston in a published letter says that a great majority of the Catholic clergy of the city are opposed to the candidacy of George as his principles if carried out would ruin the workmen The archbishop has inhibited Father McGlinn who supports George from making political speeches

JAY GOULD TALKS

NEW YORK Oct. 28.—Jay Gould returned from his Western trip yesterday, In an interview he said Some of the stockholders of the French company want the cable rate advanced to twenty five cents. It won't be done if the Western Union can help it I believe rates are down to stay down and that patronage can be increased and facilities improved to points where business will be as profitable at the present rate as it was at the old rates On one point I am very positive and that is one year from now our income from cable business will be as large as it was before the reduction was made We are trying to get our liabilities in shape to meet any rush that may be made I am sure the public will not pay two prices for a thing when the same may be had for one price We are doing the same way in Western Union by improving the plant by putting up copper wires and spending money to get the system into shape whereby we can do a greater volume of business at a low rate and do it better than any one else The more I see of the Western Union the more I am impressed with the value of the property I have sold none and have none to sell because I would rather have it than railroad stocks

FUNERAL OF MRS STEWART

NEW YORK Oct. 28.—The funeral of Mrs Cornelia M Stewart widow of the late dry goods millionaire took place to-day from her mansion on Fifth avenue No one was admitted to the residence except relatives and friends of the deceased. The body was placed in a valuable casket with silver trimmings and rested on a floral catafalque in the center of the west parlor The floral designs were numerous most of which were made by similax ivy and roses Fifth avenue and Thirty fourth street in the immediate vicinity of the mansion was crowded with people and a squad of police kept the walk clear in front of the entrance at Thirty fourth street.

Bishop Littlejohn and Rev Arthur Brooks officiated and read a portion of the service from the ritual of the Episcopal church At 3 o'clock the casket was borne down the steps on the shoulders of four undertaker's assistants and placed in the hearse The funeral cortege took the Thirty fourth street ferry At Hunter's a special train took the remains and friends to Garden City where obsequies were held in the cathedral About sixty people attended the services at the house and about forty went to Garden City

BANK FAILURE AT LINCOLN

LINCOLN Ill Oct 28.—The failure of the banking house of Wm M Dustin & Co caused a great surprise to-day The assets, according to the sworn statement made in a lawsuit last winter reach $67 000 These assets are entailed by an injunction levied in the interest of the banker's wife who has a suit for alimony pending in the courts The liabilities reach the following amounts due creditors Dustin & Hough in Montana, for cattle etc $15 000 other banks $25 000 other debts $10,000 due depositors $78,000 The failure is due to the branching out of the head of the firm in the cattle business in Montana with Roswell P Hough whose $75 000 debts were incurred This with the gigantic lawsuit pending against him in the interest of his former wife created uneasiness and precipitated a run yesterday on the bank. The bank stood the run but deemed it unwise to open this morning There are 200 depositors and creditors in this place Dustin has decided to assign and will make the depositors preferred creditors The bank has been in existence since 1857 and up to a few years ago was flourishing

THE EPISCOPAL CONVENTION

CHICAGO Oct 28.—In the Episcopal convention to-day owing to a misunderstanding, the deputies did not meet the bishops at Grace church where it was proposed to hold the closing services After waiting at Central Music hall two hours Rev Morgan Dix referred in strong language to the strange complication, and after benediction declared the house adjourned sine die At Grace church owing to postponement growing out of the misunderstanding of the deputies there was only a small attendance The pastoral of the bishops was read only to bishops and attending members none of the house of deputies being present. A salient feature of the pastoral is that the church take higher stronger more definite grounds in regard to education of the young.

PRODUCE RECEIPTS—Past 24 hours: 6087 ctls wheat, 404 bbls flour, 821 ctls oats, 22 sks potatoes, 400 lbs wool, 703 lbs hides, 9185 lbs hops, 850 bxs fruit, 22 bxs dried do, 12 pkgs butter, 39 cs eggs, 14 cattle, 108 hogs. Also from the eastern section 24,128 ctls wheat, 725 bbls flour, 340 lbs wool, 5950 lbs hides, 250 sks flaxseed, 52 hogs.

FREIGHTS—A fair degree of activity is to be noted for the week. Arrivals were Amana with part cargo of cement from Glasgow, Craigisla with coals from Sunderland, Glencairn and Lurlei in ballast from South America, all open. Sailings were Glenfyne with flour, Mitredale, Silverhow and Margaret Heald with wheat, and Coloma for Hong Kong. On spot, the Dinapore, Zamora, Adelo and Amana secured grain business on the quotable basis of 40s. This figure is below the views of owners now having vessels in port, and for some that is offering, to arrive. Others want options that would be better than 40s, usual terms. With the better market there is more tonnage offered, and our en route list promises to soon receive additions. Exporters exhibit a marked degree of indifference with regard to contracting tonnage engagements, the local wheat advance interfering with possible shipping profits. Again the foreign grain markets are weaker and it is claimed tonnage should act more in concert with grain. A number of vessels at San Francisco closed during the week at 27s 6d to 30s as to size and charter clauses.

WHEAT—Receipts for the week 1803 tons valley and 5947 tons Walla Walla, against 1607 and 9157 tons the same week last year and 1638 and 9305 tons the preceding week this year. Less Walla Walla is coming forward and it is very probable that there will be a gradual but slight reduction in future receipt of this grade. It is now coming in small lots from nearly every point. To date this season the receipt of this grade has been 64,752 tons, flour not included, against 91,218 tons for the same period last year. Roughly stated the receipt has been one-third less than last season. As the crop is conceded to be proportionately less, it would appear that the movement is very similar for the two years.

The local market improved materially late last calendar week under foreign advices and local competition, valley selling up to $1 25 and Walla Walla up to $1 16¼ for good parcels. This led to increased trading and it is believed that considerable changed hands. Buying at the higher prices cannot be said to have been general, although the figures were acknowledged by all. As a rule shippers stood in no serious need, some having an excess of wheat over engaged tonnage. These contented themselves with light buying. Enhanced tonnage rates, combined with the local rise, break into the shipper's chance for profit, and added to this there is the decidedly weaker markets abroad at the close. Whether or not local values will be maintained rests mostly with the foreign market. Present quotations are $1 15 @1 16¼ for Walla Walla and $1 22½@1 25 for valley, with the extremes had for desirable parcels. In an ordinary course of the markets these figures will be quoted for several days. A further drop abroad would only have the immediate local effect of dullness. For the week there is noted a further increase in the American visible, light deliveries by English farmers, light imports of wheat and average imports of flour into the United Kingdom and a slight increase in the quantity afloat. For two weeks past the English market has been favorably influenced by light importations and home deliveries. To these causes is attributed the recent rise. Later on the increased quantity afloat and prospective greater imports lend an easier tone, and a decline of 3d is mentioned in California cargoes. The immediate future must seemingly be controlled by the influences named above. Larger off coast arrivals would promptly weaken the market, but a contrary effect might follow small arrivals. Chicago and New York have ruled generally quiet, the range of prices not being wide. Toward the close May options are quoted. Noon prices to-day as compared with those of last Thursday at Chicago are unchanged for December and January, and ⅛c lower for November. San Francisco is very much of a necessity market. Holders are selling slowly and shippers have had to fill engaged tonnage.

MILLSTUFF—Only a local trade doing, but values are firmer and shorts were marked up on Tuesday. None going to San Francisco. That market is quoted higher for bran and middlings. Jobbing values are: Bran $14@15, chop $22@24, shorts, $17. Ground barley $24, and oil meal $32 50. No middlings in stock.

POTATOES—Receipts for San Francisco account have continued, although that market has ruled easy and slow. There are no buyers for shipment except at very low prices, the present movement representing consignment business. A good quality is quoted at 80c; sweets, $1 75.

ONIONS—Better request from Montana and the movement is larger. Jobbing prices are $1@1 10.

BUTTER—Dealers obtaining 60c per roll for choice dairy. Good grades selling at 22½@25c per pound. There is a good supply of common roll and of fair solid, the range being 15@22½c.

GREEN FRUIT—Apples in large movement. To date this month three cars of apples or pears have gone to St. Paul or St. Louis. Shipments to Montana, Idaho and Colorado points have been all of thirty-five complete cars and demands continue good. San Francisco is now a poor customer. For apples dealers continue to pay 40@60c as to quality. Stocks here rule large and include much of poor quality. This is hard to dispose of. Quinces have been asked for and will bring 60@80c readily at this time. Grapes in lighter request, at 65@85c. California lemons are quoted $6 and Sicily $10 50, with light stocks.

POULTRY—Chickens have done rather better, choice lots selling up to $3 50. Ordinary have not quotably improved, $2@3 being the range. Receipts, while less heavy, have been free. Other poultry quiet and in light request at prices long current. Wild game plentiful.

EGGS—A decline to 30c was noted in the middle of the week and since that time choice local have sold at 30c. Receipts are light, but the market has been influenced by a liberal receipt of Eastern, which sold about 2½c below local. So many of these have been of such poor quality that dealers have not been forced to reduce the figure for local. The market closes unsettled and uncertain. Increased receipt of local would break prices, and continued receipt of Eastern might produce a similar effect.

SAN FRANCISCO MINING STOCKS REPORT.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 28.

The market opened weak and trading was light. In the informal session Consolidated California sold at $6 25@6 37½. Ophir at $2 75, Best & Belcher at $1 45 and Alta 75. In regular board there was more activity and prices were higher, Consolidated California selling up to $6 87½@6 62½. The news from Consolidated California and North Belle Isle was very favorable and in the afternoon board prices advanced sharply, Consolidated California selling at $7 12½, Savage $2 90, Best & Belcher $1 65, and Ophir $3 75. The market closed strong with a better feeling and upward tendency. Consolidated Virginia closed $7 75 bid.

Potatoes—Receipts are large, but the market appears steadier; Oregon shipments per State of California not yet sold; quote Burbanks, $1 15@1 30; Peerless, 75c@$1.

Oats—Receipts per Oregon steamer larger than looked for and market hardly so good; quote Oregon, all kinds, $1 17½@1 30 as extremes.

Wool—Dull; very little business doing; quotations nominal and unchanged.

Hops—The tendency of the market is downward and there is less disposition shown to buy; quote new at 20@25c, but appearances indicate lower prices.

Bags—Little or no business doing; nominally 5⅝@5¾c.

Provisions—Quiet and easy.

Millstuffs—Steady for bran; firm for middlings.

Wheat—Rather easier; private cables are weaker; there is some demand from shippers to complete cargoes but most large buyers have withdrawn from the market; quote No. 1 shipping, $1 37½@1 40, latter for round lots. Buyer season, active, $1 41⅞@1 45½; buyer year, dull, $1 39⅝@1 40; seller year, $1 37⅛ bid.

Wheat closed on call $1 44⅞.

THE NEW YORK HOP MARKET.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—A special from Utica, N. Y., to the Commercial Bulletin says: Very little can be said concerning the hop market in this section. This year there were many small lots of hops picked through the country, but the quality was so indifferent that dealers, as a rule, did not care to buy. Some few lots of the best have been sold at a range of 21@25c. Most of the brewers of the country were pretty well prepared for just such an emergency as has arisen, and are stocked up with last year's hops in sufficient quantity to last until next January, and in some cases until March. The consequence is very few old hops are being sold, and even these go at low prices. A lot of twenty-five bales of 1885 was sold last week by one of our dealers to a brewer at 15c. Pacific coast hops are now competing well with German hops. English hops sell at 30@32c to the brewers, and are much prized because of their great strength, being cured in a different way from our hops. Germans have to be used more carefully, and yet do not always give the right flavor to beer. Pacifics are now selling a little ahead of Germans, at 33@35c, and the quality is certainly very choice. They are picked remarkably clean, and are as bright and perfect as can be, although lacking the strong, pungent odor of German hops.

CHICAGO MARKETS.

CHICAGO, Oct. 28.—Wheat opened lower: 73¾c November, 75¾c December, 76c January. At noon, higher: 74c November, 75⅞c December, 76⅝c January, 82¾c May.

Wheat closed lower; 73⅛c October, 73⅝c November, 75⅛c December, 76⅛c January.

Pork, $9 November; lard, $5 80 November; ribs, $6 50 November; short ribs, $6 65 cash.

Foreign Markets.

BEERBOHM.

LONDON, Oct. 28.—Weather, fair after rain. Cargoes on passage rather easier. California cargoes off coast 33s 9d per qr; No. 2 spring prompt shipment 31s@31s 3d per qr; English country markets firm; French, stiff.

PARIS, Oct. 28.—Wheat and flour, rather easier.

LIVERPOOL, Oct. 28.—Spot wheat quiet but steady.

A MOTION SECONDED.

ROSEBURG, Oct. 28.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

Your suggestion that the state legislature appoint a fish and game commissioner is an excellent one, and meets the approbation of every one interested in the preservation of the fish and game of the state. It is the only means of reaching a certain class of lawless individuals who butcher game indiscriminately. What is everybody's business is nobody's business, and we need an officer who can and will devote his attention to the rigid enforcement of the laws. The number of deer killed in this section of the country simply for the hides and horns is alarming, and must be stopped in some way. Let a united effort be made all over the state by those interested in such matters to induce the legislature to appoint a commissioner.

H. C. R.

Angostura Bitters do not only distinguish themselves by their flavor and aromatic odor above all others generally used, but they are also a sure preventive for all diseases originating from the digestive organs. Beware of counterfeits. Ask your grocer or druggist for the genuine article, manufactured by Dr. J. G. B. Siegert & Sons.

STATE NORMAL SCHOOLS.

AIRLIE, Ogn., Oct. 25.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

I notice in your issue of October 22 a communication from Salem and over the signature of "Wallamette," in which the writer essayed to express himself as being opposed to the coming legislature making any provision for the support of the state normal schools. The writer must have but a limited knowledge of the mode or manner in which a normal school is conducted, or of the branches taught, else he would not assert that quite as much could be learned at other places where there is a school of any size or pretension. If "Wallamette" will only cross over the new bridge into Polk county and make a personal visit to the normal school at Monmouth he can plainly see that the people's money will not be wasted but, on the contrary, beneficially expended. If he is a superintendent of the penitentiary or of the insane asylum, and receives so much per capita for keeping the inmates of these two institutions, then he may be justified in opposing state aid to the cause of education. Then, again, if he had carried his opposition a little farther and expressed himself as being opposed to the state giving any further financial aid to the annual horse racing (agricultural) fair that is held yearly at Salem, then it might have been supposed that he really was in earnest in trying to lessen the burden of taxation upon the people. If there is a surplus of funds in the state treasury, I say to the coming legislature give it to those institutions that are endeavoring to elevate mankind by teaching the youth of our state the difference between honor and dishonor, between morality and immorality, and let horse racing and fish ladders do their own running and swimming.

All We Ask

Of any one suffering from scrofula, salt rheum, dyspepsia, headache, kidney and liver complaints, that tired feeling, or any disease caused or promoted by impure blood or low state of the system is that you give Hood's Sarsaparilla a fair trial. We are confident that the medicinal value of this peculiar preparation will soon make itself felt through the system in restoring health, strength and energy. Do not take other articles claimed to be "just as good," but be sure to get Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"My wife had dyspepsia. She could not keep her food down, and had that oppressed feeling after eating. She had no appetite, and was tired all the time. She tried numerous medicines without being relieved, but the first bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla did her a great deal of good. She has now taken two bottles, and can eat anything she wants without having that distress, and has no trouble in retaining her food." JOHN BATTENFIELD, Marion, Ohio.

"I find Hood's Sarsaparilla the best remedy for impure blood I ever used." H. M. BAXTER, ticket agent P. & R. Rd., Round Brook, N. J.

Farmington, W. T.

THE FARMINGTON BRANCH OF THE O. R. & N. Co's Railway Line being in operation to this terminal point, blocks and lots in a railroad addition are now offered for sale at low prices and on easy terms. Preference in prices given to parties building. Farmington is beautifully located and central to the richest and most densely settled portion of the Palouse country. Six miles distant from present southern terminus of the Spokane and Palouse branch of the Northern Pacific Railroad, also in operation, thus affording competing traffic lines. Water, lumber and building stone of excellent quality in abundance.

Cancer of the Tongue.

My wife, some three or four years ago, was troubled with an ulcer on the side of her tongue near the throat. The pain was incessant, causing loss of sleep and producing great nervous prostration. Accompanying this trouble was rheumatism. It had passed from the shoulders and centered in the wrist of one hand, she almost losing the use of it. Between the suffering of the two, life had grown burdensome. By the use of a half dozen small sized bottles of Swift's Specific, she was entirely relieved and restored to health. This was three years ago, and there has been no return of the disease.

TESTIMONIALS.

A CARD.

MILTON, Or., Sept. 25, 1885.

A sense of duty to those who may be similarly afflicted prompts me to make the following statement: My son Henry, aged 14 years, was almost entirely deaf since quite a child, and having failed to obtain any help for him, I applied to Dr. H. J. Smith, of San Francisco, who pronounced his case one of Catarrhal Deafness, and said he could cure his Catarrh and improve his hearing at least one-half. He has only been under the doctor's treatment (at home) a short time, and I find his hearing completely restored and Catarrh nearly cured. N. PIERCE.

MILTON, Or., Sept. 29, 1886.—I take pleasure in stating that, after the lapse of one year, I find my boy, Henry's, condition better than stated in my testimonial of one year ago.

N. PIERCE.

Mr. J. A. RICHARDSON, Justice of the Peace, Stone, Or., who suffered from tubercular deposit on the lungs, with asthma, resulting from neglected catarrh, states: "When I commenced your treatment I was scarcely able to walk, and in five days I was able to walk two miles, and now enjoy fair health, and am confident that I should have been even better, had I not neglected your treatment as soon as I got better."

To those suffering from BLOOD, NERVOUS or other Chronic Diseases, we would say that it is not our custom to resort to a tedious effusion of trite matter, to excite your fears in order to deplete your purse, but will simply say that we have made a thorough study of this class of diseases, and can cure you in the speediest and most scientific manner possible.

HOME TREATMENT.

Those who cannot attend our office may be given a course of treatment at home, under our direction. If you cannot call, address us, enclosing stamp, and give a full description of your symptoms.

THE CELEBRATED SPECIALIST, Whose name is a household word throughout the United States and Canada, needs no introduction to the people of the Pacific coast, but would simply announce that he is now permanently located at Multnomah Block, opposite Postoffice, Portland, Or., where he continues to treat, with the same wonderful success as of old,

ALL CHRONIC, NERVOUS & PRIVATE DISEASES

Such as Lost Manhood, Nervous and Physical Debility, Exhausted vitality, Seminal Weakness, Spermatorrhœa, Prostatorrhœa, Impotency, Gonorrhœa, Gleet, Syphilis, Diseases of the Kidneys, Liver, Lungs, Heart and Stomach; Premature Decline, Weakness in Women, and all Functional Derangements that result from youthful follies or excess in later years.

YOUNG MEN

Who may be suffering from the effects of youthful follies or indiscretion will do well to avail themselves of this, the greatest boon ever laid at the altar of suffering humanity. DR. SPINNEY will Guarantee to Forfeit $500 for every case of Seminal Weakness or private disease of any kind or character which he undertakes and fails to cure

Middle-aged Men

There are many at the age of 30 to 60 who are troubled with too frequent evacuations of the bladder, often accompanied by a slight smarting or burning sensation and a weakening of the system in a manner the patient cannot account for. On examining the urinary deposits a ropy sediment will often be found, and sometimes small particles of albumen will appear, or the color will be of a thin, whitish hue, again changing to a dark and torpid appearance. There are many men who die of this difficulty, ignorant of the cause, which is the second stage of seminal weakness. DR. SPINNEY will Guarantee a Perfect Cure in such cases, and a healthy restoration of the genito-urinary organs. Address Box 623, Portland, Or.

Hours 10 to 4. Later hours by appointment.
